Name: Benefit 5 - Technological Progress

<Files\\Processed x Highly relevant\\2024-05-09 - BOP - AI adopters forecast to pull a> - § 1 reference coded [1.52% Coverage]

Reference 1 - 1.52% Coverage

AI power users have re-oriented their workdays in fundamental ways, re-imagining business processes and

<Files\\Processed x Highly relevant\\2024-05-21 - NZH - Air NZ taking AI into the skie> - § 1 reference coded [5.89% Coverage]

Reference 1 - 5.89% Coverage

The airline has revealed it took more than 30,000 photographs of passenger meals in October as part of an AI trial that could help it finesse its menu.
Air New Zealand CEO Greg Foran said he believed the food on the airline was the best heâ€™s ever had but was excited to reveal how the airline used AI to clock what people didnâ€™t enjoy.
â€œWhat weâ€™re now doing is using AI to take photographs of whatâ€™s coming on the galley cart,â€ Foran said, adding that AI was a â€œgame-changerâ€ the company was trialling in several ways.
The

<Files\\Processed x Highly relevant\\2024-06-01 - STF - Is AI an existential threat to> - § 1 reference coded [2.34% Coverage]

Reference 1 - 2.34% Coverage

In this â€œage of abundanceâ€ , a futuristic scenario where all the useful technological progress has been reached and all the inventions have been made, people would not need to work to maintain a lifestyle, but could opt to work as a leisure activity.

<Files\\Processed x Highly relevant\\2024-06-11 - SCP - Fact Checking Artificial Intel> - § 1 reference coded [3.71% Coverage]

Reference 1 - 3.71% Coverage

Williamson says companies like Google are having a tough time right now because they have to change their whole model of delivering information on the internet. "They've seen a new way of doing it, which is through the use of generative AI.
"B

<Files\\Processed x Highly relevant\\2024-06-12 - NZH - AI driving global stock market> - § 1 reference coded [8.78% Coverage]

Reference 1 - 8.78% Coverage

The recent surge in artificial intelligence (AI) has translated to impressive gains on global stock markets, which saw their strongest firstquarter performance in the past five years. Investors have shown an insatiable appetite for technology stocks, fuelled by the potential of AI to revolutionise industries worldwide.

A

<Files\\Processed x Highly relevant\\2024-06-29 - STF - AI causes major rethink as uni> - § 1 reference coded [0.73% Coverage]

Reference 1 - 0.73% Coverage

What has arrived is an educational reshuffle, with the tools used to better assess students, and better detect academic misconduct.
â

<Files\\Processed x Highly relevant\\2024-07-03 - RNZ - Experts cautiously optimistic> - § 2 references coded [2.61% Coverage]

Reference 1 - 0.96% Coverage

But she said AI also came with its risks and it was important to address them, while being open to "the transformative potential of this technology". McC

Reference 2 - 1.64% Coverage

On the health side of things, Collins wanted AI to take on tasks like processing mammogram results. General surgeon and Auckland University associate professor Dr Matthew Clark said it would be the "biggest game-changer" in the health sector for generations.
"

<Files\\Processed x Highly relevant\\2024-07-18 - SPN - The more you know about AI, th> - § 2 references coded [3.25% Coverage]

Reference 1 - 1.85% Coverage

While he is enthusiastic and knowledgeable about generative AI, describing it as “the opportunity of a generation” (he’s also the founder of a technical AI consultancy), ultimately, he struck me as a realist who has seen enough to sort the hype chaff from the practical wheat.
H

Reference 2 - 1.39% Coverage

It’s also very apparent that using it to free up time and manifest AI’s great promises actually requires… time. The AI revolution isn’t hurtling at us at great speed but chipping away at things quite slowly.
T

<Files\\Processed x Highly relevant\\2024-07-18 - TST - Report warns of barrier to rea> - § 2 references coded [8.18% Coverage]

Reference 1 - 2.93% Coverage

The Treasury this week released a report assessing the impact of artificial intelligence (AI). The emerging technology that enables computers and machines to stimulate human intelligence and problem solve was identified as a tool that could â€œtransform innovation across a wide range of fieldsâ€ .
H

Reference 2 - 5.26% Coverage

â€œWe need to be very careful because AI is happening very fast and we donâ€™t want to be last to jump on board. We can be in a better position for this AI revolution, or we can be in a much worse situation. We should see how to use AI, but also how we should be developing AI,â€ said Bifet.
He urged the public and private sectors to not lag in adopting AI. â€œThis is this revolutionary. Like the internet that changed everything, but this time itâ€™s going to be much faster. Itâ€™s important to see how we can benefit off that.â€™â€™
-

<Files\\Processed x Highly relevant\\2024-07-25 - MWS - Massey University working on g> - § 1 reference coded [1.43% Coverage]

Reference 1 - 1.43% Coverage

â€œWe are in the business of supporting students in a changing world.â€ ---

<Files\\Processed x Highly relevant\\2024-08-02 - RNZ - NZ joins US military exercises> - § 1 reference coded [2.21% Coverage]

Reference 1 - 2.21% Coverage

AI is supercharging not just the race to develop non-lethal autonomous systems, such as in targeting, but potentially lethal ones, too, at a time when the UN is struggling to find consensus around international limits on killer robots. The <Files\\Processed x Highly relevant\\2024-08-02 - RNZ - When an algorithm is your boss> - § 1 reference coded [5.47% Coverage]

Reference 1 - 5.47% Coverage

There's a new cohort of workers using platforms powered by artificial intelligence to get work, but regulation over the gig economy is lagging.
The gig economy used to be made up of artists, musicians, actors dipping in and out of work, or people picking up those jobs you see advertised on supermarket noticeboards.
Now it's expanding, pushed by rapidly developing technology.
Not

<Files\\Processed x Highly relevant\\2024-08-03 - RNZ - The huge playground of AI musi> - § 1 reference coded [6.85% Coverage]

Reference 1 - 6.85% Coverage

"When people say it's a revolution as big as electricity or the motorcar, they're not exaggerating," he says.
"In the last 10 or more years, there's been this relentless surge of progress [and] technical advance in the capability of AI systems. The most obvious evidence of that is in the language model stuff - Chat GPT and those AI language models - because they are so startlingly lifelike and humanlike in their response and in their ability to do basic logic.
"I

<Files\\Processed x Highly relevant\\2024-08-17 - STF - Forget imaginary friends, how> - § 1 reference coded [1.96% Coverage]

Reference 1 - 1.96% Coverage

Now they are being hailed as a technological revolution, so universities intend to make the most of the opportunities, Bate says.
â€œIt's fascinating, It's an emerging field, and weâ€™re kind of working it out as we go along, just like everyone else is with ChatGPT, with any AI.
â€

<Files\\Processed x Highly relevant\\2024-10-07 - STF - Nobel Prize in physics awarded> - § 2 references coded [8.33% Coverage]

Reference 1 - 4.12% Coverage

Two pioneers of artificial intelligence â€" John Hopfield and Geoffrey Hinton â€" won the Nobel Prize in physics Tuesday for helping create the building blocks of machine learning that is revolutionizing the way we work and live but also creates new threats to humanity, one of the winners said.
H

Reference 2 - 4.21% Coverage

Hinton predicted that AI will end up having a â€œhuge influenceâ€ on civilization, bringing improvements in productivity and health care.
â€œIt would be comparable with the Industrial Revolution,â€ he said in the open call with reporters and the officials from the Royal Swedish Academy of Sciences.
â€

<Files\\Processed x Highly relevant\\2024-10-30 - STF - Embracing AI can be scary but> - § 2 references coded [5.68% Coverage]

Reference 1 - 3.41% Coverage

But soon, AI will be something every industry will be affected by, so all businesses should be looking at how the technology will affect them, the Pure SEO founder says.
â€œThe choice we face as marketers, is to fear the change and bury our heads in the sand, or as I have done, see the change as a massive opportunity to embrace, evolve and adapt to change and lead our partners on the journey, â€œ he says.
Wh

Reference 2 - 2.27% Coverage

â€œWe dug deep into the possibilities. We realised all the pain points the AI solved with traditional photography and started to realise the opportunities beyond solving the problems. We could see the potential for this to turn into something groundbreaking,â€ says Waugh.
â

<Files\\Processed x Highly relevant\\2024-11-22 - WAA - Symposium prepares lecturer> - § 1 reference coded [5.44% Coverage]

Reference 1 - 5.44% Coverage

Paora Ammunson, Deputy Chief Executive of the Tertiary Education Commission, compares the rise of AI to the rise of newspapers in the 1 800s, which were useful tools but also needed to be used careful ly.
He says experts bel ieve we can't avoid AI , so educators are trying to figure out how to assess students who use it.

<Files\\Processed x Highly relevant\\2024-11-25 - STF - Dan Carter takes ride in Kiwis> - § 1 reference coded [3.96% Coverage]

Reference 1 - 3.96% Coverage

â€œThere are some real challenges to get this technology on the road, but it's going to be big, it's going to be transformative, and it's coming soon,â€ Alex told me.
A

<Files\\Processed x Highly relevant\\2024-12-06 - STF - Next-gen AI is on its way for> - § 3 references coded [6.38% Coverage]

Reference 1 - 2.86% Coverage

â€œItâ€™s going to change all aspects of life again, like the web did; how we learn, work, socialise and thrive as a species,â€ Gruber told an audience at an Unlock the Future of Tech Spark Accelerate event held in Auckland. â€œWe are currently in the middle of the wave of technological advancement. â€œThe question is, will we be swamped by this tsunami or will we learn to catch the wave?â€
G

Reference 2 - 1.48% Coverage

While this technology will revolutionise the workplace, Gruber says it will highlight that â€œhumans are the valuable, rare resource, and they have the most to leverage to improve their productivity.â€
A

Reference 3 - 2.04% Coverage

Callaghan Innovation is supporting the development of international AI standards to enable more Kiwi businesses to make the most of the technology, and says the standard is crucial to â€œmaintaining a competitive edge in this rapidly evolving and transformativeâ€ technology area.
T

<Files\\Processed x Highly relevant\\2025-01-30 - RNZ - NZ innovators using artificial> - § 1 reference coded [2.79% Coverage]

Reference 1 - 2.79% Coverage

"So our idea was, if you could remove all that and come up with a really open design for animals, and use AI to decide whether that was a pest or not, we were able to revolutionise the way that we were designing the traps in the first place."
T

<Files\\Processed x Highly relevant\\2025-02-12 - RNZ - New uses of artificial intelli> - § 1 reference coded [3.39% Coverage]

Reference 1 - 3.39% Coverage

AI featured in a speech to public sector bosses by the Minister for Digitising Government and of the Public Service, Judith Collins, midweek, with her saying: "If done right, the digitisation of our public service will be game changing, and I am committed to ensuring this happens."
S

<Files\\Processed x Highly relevant\\2025-02-17 - WHC - AI tackles woody debris proble> - § 1 reference coded [3.45% Coverage]

Reference 1 - 3.45% Coverage

The council said using AI technology had been a â€œgame-changerâ€ for the project because it was a smarter and more cost-effective way to quickly identify the location of woody debris and estimate volumes.
It

<Files\\Processed x Highly relevant\\2025-03-06 - DRV - Will AI replace car designers> - § 1 reference coded [7.81% Coverage]

Reference 1 - 7.81% Coverage

Speaking at an event for the new Mercedes-Benz Places apartment complex in Miami, Wagener suggested that AIâ€™s rapid development will fundamentally reshape the design process.
â€œWe work with AI now,â€ Wagener told ABC News. â€œYou get 99% of crap with AI and sheer quantity. Thatâ€™s the biggest problem, sorting out the good stuff from the bad,â€ he continued.
â€œBut you get 1% good stuff, and we keep learning. Itâ€™s getting better every day.â€ The automation of design could mean major cost savings for manufacturers.
â€

<Files\\Processed x Highly relevant\\2025-03-14 - STF - Is AI in politics the final te> - § 1 reference coded [3.07% Coverage]

Reference 1 - 3.07% Coverage

â€œItâ€™s something that is evolving continuously. It is going to be like the internet,â€ he says.
â€œAt the beginning, people were saying using the internet was risky, but in the end, everybody is using the internet - I think itâ€™s going to be the same.â€
Bifet sees politicians in the future using AI â€œto improve how they communicate, to improve how they do things to be more productive â€" they should not use it to replace what they do.â€ â€"

<Files\\Processed x Highly relevant\\2025-04-06 - STF - AI is like having a high-perfo> - § 1 reference coded [1.71% Coverage]

Reference 1 - 1.71% Coverage

With the right prompts, AI can be like having an exceptionally helpful junior - fast, focused and tireless, says the barrister. Itâ€™s not perfect, but itâ€™s powerful, he says. "The possibilities are equal parts thrilling and horrifying. But the future is here. And itâ€™s learning fast." Leg

<Files\\Processed x Highly relevant\\2025-04-07 - PRS - Will AI replace local politici> - § 1 reference coded [3.95% Coverage]

Reference 1 - 3.95% Coverage

â€˜â€˜All of those streams of government are going to change with technology,â€™â€™ Davies said. â€˜â€˜If you do a thought experiment, you can imagine what sort of information is going into these areas and how it might be analysed with AI.â€™â€™
I